SAGINAW BOARD OF EDUCATION

The closing of the school year 1960-61 marks another milestone in the lives of everyone at South School, and with it comes another Annual SIS Boom. This school year has been filled with many activities: the meeting and making of new friends and the successful attainment of many achievements. This SIS Boom, too, is filled with many things to help remind us of the year 1960-61. The editorial and mechanical staffs have again produced a book of which we may all be proud.

Best wishes to all for a pleasant vacation and a special "good luck in the future" to all ninth graders.

ENGLISH AND FOREIGN LANGUAGE

Pictures were taken in the English and language classes with ninth graders learning about English and the seventh graders reading English Literature. Did Mr. Wahl solve Janet Olney's problem; did Kim McCulloch get his point across in Spanish? Do Janet Schwanbeck and Sharon Cory understand their French?

MATHEMATICS AND SCIENCE

SOCIAL SCIENCE

Is Pat Wolf achieving her purpose? We hope she's making local government easier for Loraine Wilhelm and Terry Jackson.

Cheryl Horb is spotting trouble—Africa—for Bob Heavenrich.

John Denton seems to be sizing up American history with his yardstick. Sue Culver and Don Schotts watch attentively.

Holly Peters and Cheryl Horb must think Bob Heavenrich has something worth saying—they're taking notes.

Will Sue Swan find the right spot? Jerry Waterman and Mike Wressell watch carefully.

BECOMING A WELL-ROUNDED PERSON

Mr. Doughty shows eager David Miller and Bob Rosa the techniques of metal work.

Girls in Miss Rosenberger's classes are busy learning things which will be helpful to them later in life.

Gary Minnis and Dick Tarte are building skill with their hands in Wood Shop, under the supervision of Mr. Richards.

Bob LeRoux, David Markwood, and John Fraker are busy printing an issue of our monthly SIS Boom.

Such a nice day, but Josie LaBelle is hard at work in Mrs. Beverstein's art class.

Music Activities ---- 1961

CHOIRS

Under the direction of Miss Gase, both second and fifth hour choirs have worked hard to present a program of enjoyable songs. This year's first appearance of the choirs was at a Christmas assembly which was greeted with much enthusiasm from the student body. Both the second and fifth hour choirs sang in this medley of Christmas songs.

The Southern Spectacular's last number featured the girls of the two choirs singing "This Is My Country." Both choirs sang in the Spring Concert May 12.

The girls, choir and the mixed choir both sang solo songs and in the finale joined together in a medley of songs from "Carousel."

MADRIGALS

Singing at assemblies and in the Spectacular, this year's Madrigals have been an important part of South's entertainment. Lead by Miss Gase, these girls have worked hard to present such numbers as "Jeanie with the Light Brown Hair," "Deep Purple," and "Gossip is Fun."

INSTRUMENTAL CONCERT

The Instrumental Concert was presented April 28. Fred Borchard was Master of Ceremonies.

The Beginning Band started the performance with Rip Van Winkle Overture and other fine pieces.

Following, the Junior Band played Mandalay Overture and Chalma Waltz from their repertoire of music.

The Senior Band played Curtaincall Overture, the lively Chopsticks Rock, and for a finale the rousing Chaser March.

Soloists were Spencer Maidlow, Marge Young, Dennis Jackson, Ed Leib, and Ron Marquis.

JUNIOR BAND

Although together for little over a year, the Junior Band has done excellent playing for the March P.T.A., the school play, and the Spring Concert.

Pictured here is the Madrigal quartet which appeared at the Southern Spectacular. They are Chris List, Kris Behm, Xenny Weiker, and Margaret Asman.

SENIOR BAND

Spring Concert, Spectacular, Armistice Day Parade—these are just a few of the many outstanding performances our Senior Band has participated in throughout the school year. The functions of the band this year began with a political assembly previous to the national election last November. Fred Borchard, the band's drum major, led the music Armistice Day as the band marched downtown.

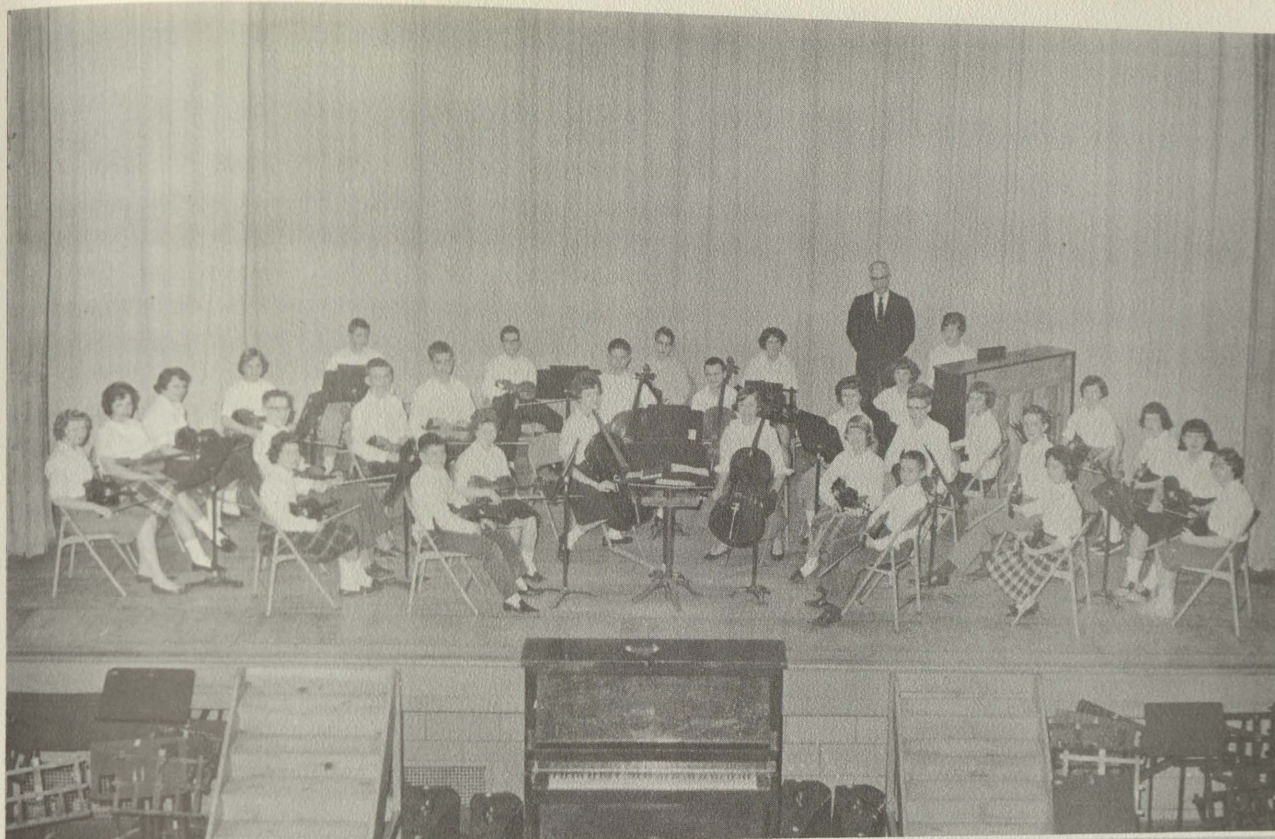

South's P.T.A. appreciated the band's performance at their January meeting. Getting the Spectacular off to a good start last March was another showing of our band's wonderful skills.

ORCHESTRA

This year South School's orchestra, conducted by Mr. Shumate, has worked especially hard to prepare the programs which they have presented on various occasions. They participated in several P.T.A. meetings, an assembly on April 20, and our annual Spring concert.

Two of their selections for the Spring Concert were "Air and March" by Henry Purcell, and "French Suite" by Lully.

SOUTHERN SPECTACULAR

With the words, "Welcome to our 1961 Southern Spectacular; we have a great show with the emphasis on talent," Margaret Asman and Ed Leib, the M.C.'s, opened the fifth annual South School Southern Spectacular. The program, including two evening performances and a matinee, was presented March 2 and 3.

The first act was the South School Senior Band playing, under the direction of Mr. Shumate, "Thunderer March," "Park Ridge Overture," and "Tin Lizzie."

Following the South School Band came an original composition by John Anderson and Denny Forester on the piano.

The next act brought on the South tumblers turning flips and performing other difficult stunts. The performance was sponsored by Mr. Keene. At this point in the program a rib tickling demonstration by Lee Ann Block revealed the perils of a traveling teacher.

Most Broadway hoofers come from New York, but South School has its own. They are Linda Petre and Marlee Frederick. They gave the show a lift with their number "The New York Jazz."

Margaret Asman entertained the audience with a vocal solo, "Buttons and Bows."

Then came the Sky Riders doing marvelous tricks on the high ladders. Included in this act were Diane Khuen, Barb Wilcox, and Karen Jacob. Also included in the matinee were Mary Symons and Jody Golden.

The seventh act was a vocal quartette consisting of Chris List, Kathy Marden, Loraine Wilhelm, and Anne Wendler singing, "You'll Never Walk Alone."

The two Shieks of Araby, Wayne Boehm and Mike Hazzard, kept the show rolling with the song "The Shiek of Araby."

A lot of laughs were gained by the song novelty act, "Superman," presented by Linda Huyghe, Sue Boyd, Sally Schrems, and Cheri Harper.

South School's dance band, the Cavaliers, including John Anderson, Matt Beach, Hank Kaufmann, Denny Foerster, and Chris Meltesen played the theme from the Peter Gunn Show which moved the show right along.

When intermission was over and people were in their seats, the show started again with the South School Southern Rockettes setting a fast pace for the remainder of the program. Included in the Rockettes were Nancy Hatfield, Jackie Jarecki,

Jean Kurth, Marlene Melcher, Linda Petre, Ruth Provencher, Cindy Robinson, Sally Shear, and Guna Spacs. This act was sponsored by Mrs. Kreuger.

The Pyramid Ladder act with Morley Thomson, Lauren Howard, Kathy Braun, Barb Wilcox, Janice Sarow, Sue Boyd, Cheryl Leonard, Judie Lentner, Pat Martin, Gretchen Gustafson, Marcia Durson, Mary Kreasle, Susan Selixit, Diane Remiers and Linda Horvat kept the audience on the edge of their seats while doing marvelous feats.

"Gossip Is Fun," presented by the South School Madrigals was another example of the ability of the girls' singing group.

Following the Madrigals came Paul Lichau doing an amusing walk on.

The audience almost hit the ceiling when the Stupid Steppers, a hilarious novelty act came on stage with their rib-tickling antics. Included in the act were Jane Fетters, Diane Khuen, Greer Greenberg, Shirley Fried, Lee Ann Trask, Chris Nagel, Barb Wilcox, Pat Wolf, Sue Bear, Sue Albers, Sandy Barber, Jane Imerman and Morley Thomson.

Next came the Madrigals quartette including Chris List, Kris Behm, Xenny Weiker, and Anne Wendler singing "The Syncopated Clock."

Kathy Braun and Sue Zittel kept the show at a fast pace with a modern dance to the song "Doo Doo Dots."

Following the modern dance came Sue Fobear singing a vocal solo, "Pretend."

Linda Davis, South School's own ballerina, showed perfect coordination while dancing to her own musical composition.

From the deepest part of the African jungle came the weird "Voo Doo Magic." Performing this act were Sue Zittel, Greer Greenberg, Bee Bee Schindehette, Chris Otto, Martha Francke, Martha Peckover, and Barb Borchard.

For the second time in the show the Madrigals performed. They sang an old favorite, "Jeanie With the light Brown Hair."

The final act was the South School Choir singing "This is My Country."

Following the South School Choir came a solemn presentation to commemorate the one hundredth anniversary of the Civil War. Ed Sederlund, playing a Union soldier, was shaking hands with Tex Crevia, a Confederate soldier, in front of a statue representing peace played by Pat Hoge. Ed Leib spoke a solemn tribute while the flag of the United States flew in the background.

9A Assembly

Giving our years at South their official end, the 9A Assembly held many important messages and hilarious remembrances. On Friday, June 2, the ninth graders marched into South's auditorium for the last time.

Under the direction of Mrs. McDowell and Mr. Keene, the assembly went off well with all the traditional happenings. Rev. Herbert Schroeder of First Presbyterian Church gave the invocation; Morley Thompson was the student announcer.

Mrs. Allington's will committee, Diane Kheun, Fred Borchard, Beth Kramer, Mike Heilbronn, and Mary Kiebala, worked industriously to write and present the will.

With Mark Richter as chairman, Mr. Noble's prophecy committee presented a skit.

Members of the prophecy committee were Matt Beach, Lee Block, Ann Davis, Ed Lieb, Harry Meyer, and Molly Reagh.

The program also included a clarinet solo by Allen Kibby; he was accompanied by Sharon Herbert. As a final closing, Karen Abler, Jayne DeVore, Karen Klopff, Elizabeth Kurtz, Diane Martin, Sally Schrems, Jackie Schultz, and Loraine Wilhelm sang "The Lord Bless and Keep You."

As the crowning event of our work at South, Mr. Guy presented the gold honor pins to those students who had been on the honor roll every semester.

Sis Snooper

Time has all run out now,
The end is surely here.

Our 9A's leave with memories
Of happy, fruitful years.

A fad that made the boys jump for joy,
Were those pants and coats of corduroy.

Dancing fads have hit the nations,
The pony and twist were new sensations.

A fad this year was bartender shirts,
They look real sharp with our pleated skirts.

Two movies this year that had no illfate,
Were "Elmer Gantry" and "Butterfield 8."

Of records that we will never forget
"Runaway" and "Blue Moon" are the best yet.

"Are You Lonesome Tonight" was really a topper,
"Where the Boys Are" was another show stopper.

Our teams this year were really the most
South surely has a reason to boast.

In football, basketball, volleyball, swimming,
South's teams never seem to stop winning.

A couple who around South really rate,
Are Jane and Terry—two years straight !

Although she's only half Jack's size,
When they fight, Di gets the prize.

A couple that we couldn't miss
Is cheerleader Sue and her guy Kris.

Although his Presidential duties are through,
John's still busy with a girl named Sue.

Although he's a menace, Chris knows,
That Mark's the best of all the beaux.

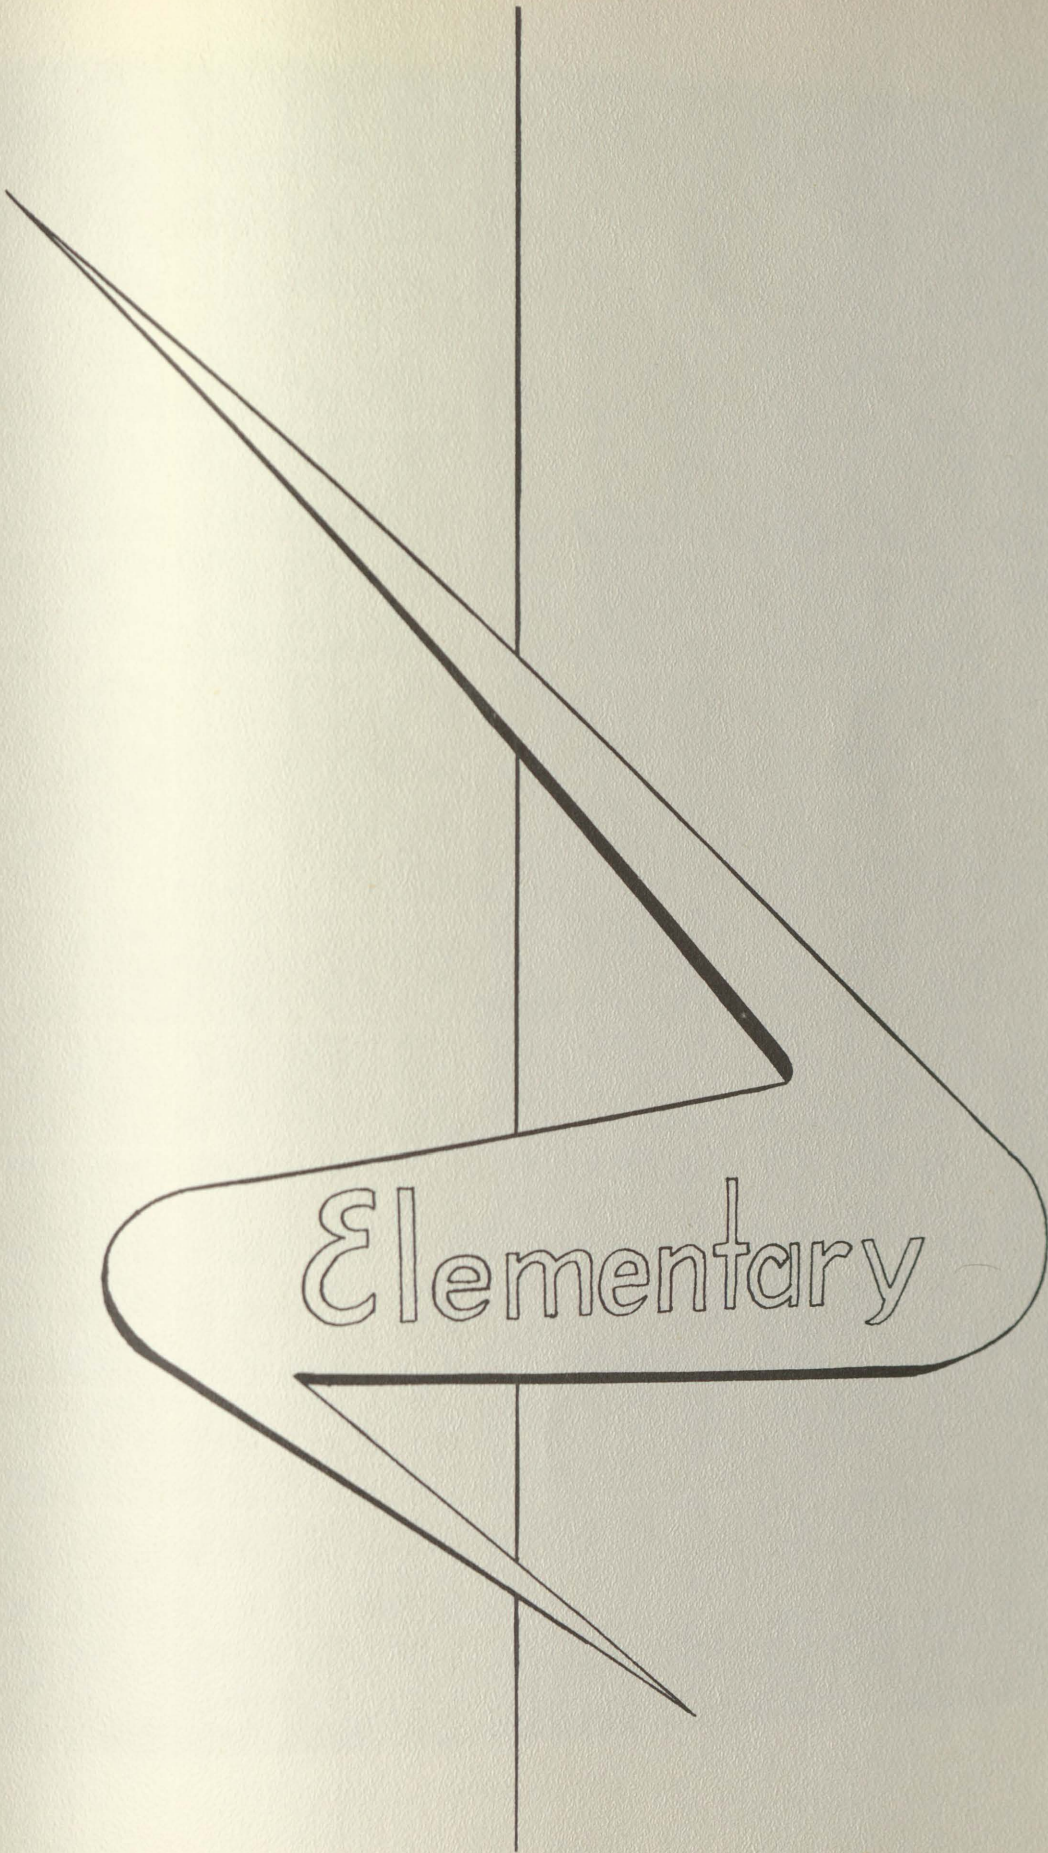

It's been a great year with a lot to remember
But plenty of us can wait 'till September.

GRADE SIX, ROOM 260

When we studied China we made kites and scrolls. We made maps on the study of South America. Mr. Shumate loaned us articles on India for the cases in our hall. In science we studied the human body. We ended the year studying the Middel Ages.

GRADE SIX, ROOM 254

In social studies this year we have studied the British Isles, China, India and Pakistan. We did a map study of Africa. We made scenes of India, China, Medieval England for our bulletin boards. We also made booklets on China and will be doing this for our South and Central American unit.

GRADE SIX, ROOM 252

The sixth grade in Room 252 has had a busy and enjoyable year. We covered units on South America, Middle Ages, Countries of Europe, China and India.

We enjoyed making a frieze on early Britain, shields, weapons, and manuscripts. Other delightful experiences were making booklets, book jackets and Easter articles for the Junior Red Cross.

GRADE FIVE, ROOM 262

Learning about our own state and country has been our big project this year. Everyone chose a state to specialize in and sent for materials. Our letters have brought many interesting replies. We are making a relief map of the United States and booklets to summarize our information.

GRADE FIVE, ROOM 256

The fifth grade devoted much time to studying birds, insects, solar system, health and safety. The art work was correlated with social studies or the holidays. We made a study of the instruments of the orchestra in our music appreciation work. In social studies we covered Canada, the United States and Mexico.

GRADE FIVE, ROOM 158

We have had a busy and enjoyable year working and learning together. Grade projects in social studies and in science have been interesting, especially the large relief map and mural of the United States. Our daily record chart in science of the moon, weather and the time of sunrise and sunset was another group project.

GRADE FOUR, ROOM 162

This year we studied many things. Here are some of them. In science we studied underwater sea life and the human body. In social studies we made Eskimo books. We like to study our turtle. Also, we studied Switzerland and learned how to make butter milk, drawings, and puppets from Holland.

GRADE FOUR, ROOM 160

For science we studied about the moon and the ways men are planning to go there. We also learned about magnets and electricity. Some children made electro-magnets, telegraphs, and games.

GRADE FOUR, ROOM 152

In the fall we studied the Congo. Other social studies units were the desert and Switzerland, and now we are studying Norway. Our science units included animals, rocks, and minerals. Sea life and health were also included.

GRADE THREE, ROOM 10

We have enjoyed our study of Indians, Pioneers, Early Saginaw, and Saginaw Today. By using movies, art, dancing music, dramatization, and reference books our work has been more meaningful.

GRADE THREE, ROOM 9

The first of the year we studied pioneers. Children brought lots of pioneer things. We dipped candles like the pioneers did. Then we started writing. The second semester we studied Indians. That was fun. We also learned to carry and borrow in arithmetic.

GRADE THREE, ROOM 7

Our study of pioneers and Indians was interesting and fun. We brought in many things that were used by people of long ago. In science we learned to give reports and do experiments. We learned cursive writing. We enjoyed doing creative stories and pictures.

GRADE TWO, ROOM 12

If you had visited our room in the fall you'd have seen a market with all kinds of fruits and vegetables for sale. Later we studied about the post office and transportation.

GRADE TWO, ROOM 8

We started our year with an interesting study of prehistoric animals. Each of us made a model dinosaur out of clay. We made a seed collection and studied about transportation.

GRADE TWO, ROOM 6

We had a busy year. We made a market, a bakery, and a cafeteria. In January we went to Ann Arbor to do rhythms for the Midwest Music Conference. It was fun to go on the big bus.

GRADE ONE, ROOM 5

If you were to visit our room, we would take you for an adventure to storyland with the Bremen Town Musicians, and then follow Brer Rabbit to the Laughing Place. Our animal friends are sock puppets who can be happy, funny, or sad. It all depends on the story.

GRADE ONE, ROOM 3

We work and play in First Grade. We are proud that we can read books, write stories, and do our arithmetic. We had fun making puppets. We will play "The Three Pigs" and "The Three Bears." We had a happy time celebrating the holidays.

GRADE ONE, ROOM 1

We learn to read in first grade. We like to read funny animal stories. We can write stories, too. We made a big grocery store. We made foods from paper and sawdust. In our store we learned to count money.

GRADE ONE, ROOM 156

We have grown up because now we can read and write. We did interesting things in science and social studies. Best of all we can go to the library and check out books. Our teacher left at Easter to have a baby so we were lucky to have two teachers.

KINDERGARTEN, ROOM 4

The kindergarten room is a happy room where we learn to play and work together through the school season. We have learned many songs and games, and have read many stories.

KINDERGARTEN, ROOM 2

This year our goal was to help children be aware of things about them. We tried to arouse their curiosity about learning and understanding new information.
